

I am 44 years old and have seen broadcast TV go from a comfortable member of my community to endless commercial blaring. And the new trend toward mega-ownership is a disturbing trend toward the centralization of news -- something we used to chastize the Soviets about. Does the FCC care about "serving the public good" anymore?

Thank you for accepting and registering my concern.

Charles Miller